

Giuliana & Bill on E!

May 13, 2014

Giuliana contemplates going under the knife after finding her worst fear: a wrinkle! She goes in for a consultation with Dr. Raj Kanodia, celebrity plastic surgeon in Beverly Hills.

Dr. Kanodia has published numerous medical articles and is often a guest lecturer at international medical conferences. Over the years he has developed a worldwide client base among entertainers, royalties, models and people alike.

Dr. Raj tells Giuliana that she is too young to get a facelift. He says that the slight drooping she is experiencing in her skin is natural due to aging but that he can improve the appearance of her skin with fillers and Fractora.

Fractora is a bipolar radio-frequency fractional treatment for superior improvements in texture, wrinkles, acne scars and contraction.

Giuliana tells Bill about her trip to the plastic surgeon's office and admits that she scheduled a Fractora treatment. Giuliana gets hit with her first pulse and doesn't find it too painful.

In the end, she is glad that she went through with the treatment and even though she dreads getting older, she is thankful for being able to celebrate her next birthday.
